

Your employee is interested in learning new skills with AMA. Beyond helping you both achieve your goals, here's why that's an excellent idea.

AMA Seminars offer your employee:

- Extensive practice in a supportive environment. You really can't learn new skills from an app. You need to experience it, practice it, and get personal attention to the details that make a difference. There is simply no substitute for learning by doing.
- Feedback from experts. Our instructors are not professors—they are practitioners in the field, focused on what works now in the real world. Participants agree instructors make a difference and have rated our faculty 4.83 out of 5 stars. What's more, your employee will be learning alongside peers from other organizations gaining insight and knowledge from other industries and expanding their professional network.
- Tools and techniques designed to improve performance. Our courses are instructionally designed to make a difference in performance, which is why 99% of participants report they are using what they learned back on the job after taking one of our courses.
- An Experience. Yes, we know two or three days seems like a lot. But dedicating that time to truly master new skills is worth the time and money. And we're not just saying that--our customers agree: 98% of participants would come back for another course.

Still feel like you can't spare your employee for a training session?

Special Feature

Real-world examples. Techniques and tools learned throughout this seminar are based on actual day-to-day interactions between managers and direct reports.

See Ken Blanchard's Situational Leadership® II (SLII)—a model for developing people and a way for leaders to help their employees become self-reliant achievers. To be truly effective, leaders' styles must adapt to the skills and commitment of the people they want to influence. With some people, managers have to provide a great deal of direction. With others, encouragement and appreciation trigger the best results. Still others deliver their best when allowed to take the ball and run with it. Situational Leadership® II helps managers become more flexible and responsive to their employees' needs.
