Business Writing Tips and Best Practices

Powerful, professional writing improves productivity, collaboration, credibility and influence. It can also help convey an impression of intelligence and ability.

Improve your writing by implementing the following tips:

1. Lead with the “big news”—By quickly getting to the point, you stand a better chance of influencing your readers.

2. Use natural language—For example, instead of saying, “With a greater level of self-awareness, your key talent will be more focused, disciplined, collaborative, and productive,” say, “Increasing your self-awareness results in more focused and productive key talent.”

3. Use “active voice”—Instead of saying, “The presentation was given by the marketing department,” say, “The marketing department gave the presentation.”

4. Use shorter sentences (average 20 or fewer words)—Rather than saying, “I am requesting we schedule a meeting of about three hours to discuss the issue, and then ultimately make a decision,” say, “We will meet for half a day to discuss and make a decision about the issue.”

5. Use more verbs and fewer nouns—Instead of saying, “It would be appreciated if you could send the files immediately,” say, “Please send the files immediately.”

6. Use the subject line to make a clear statement—For example, “Today’s report is attached” or “Please send images ASAP.”

7. Be specific about the action requested—Let the recipient know if a response is needed within a certain time frame.

8. Only include those who need to be included—Don’t send to more people than necessary; the same goes for email replies.

9. Do not write an email if you are upset or emotional—Instead, wait or write it without inserting the email address of the recipient; send later after proofreading.

10. Use spell-check and thesaurus—Edit to improve the readability and professionalism of your message.

11. When forwarding an email conversation, check the thread—Scroll down to ensure there is nothing in previous emails that you do not want the recipients to see.

12. Do not use business email for personal correspondence—Emails from a business account are considered official company communications and may be monitored.

13. Proofread your message—Then proofread your message again to ensure correct content, grammar and style.

Explore these additional AMA resources to help you continue to be acknowledged and heard in a virtual work environment:

- The Successful Virtual Team Member—Live Online Course, 3 Lessons
- Writing with Confidence, Consideration, and Class—Webinar
- Powerful Communication Techniques—Live Online Express Course, 1 Lesson
- How to Build a Professional Brand and Image—AMA OnDemand Course
- Workplace Communication Training—AMA OnDemand Course

All of these online resources are available for individuals, or can be delivered organization-wide in a private setting, with content aligned to your business goals. Visit our website or call 800-262-9699 for more information.

A powerful written voice is one that is clear, confident, and convincing. Never underestimate the written word as a tool to influence others and to represent yourself.